

WILDBOUND
COMICS

1

$4.99 US

STORM IRONPAW

— THE GLASS SKY —

SOME CALL HIM
A WANDERER.
OTHERS CALL HIM
A PROBLEM.
HE CALLS HIMSELF
CORRECTION.

The town of Red Vale had not seen rain in seven months.

It had not seen mercy in longer.

Storm IronPaw did not believe in luck.

Only patterns.

This pressure is artificial.

People say the drought started when the old tower lit up.

Since then, folks disappear up there.

Then the tower is the source.

Or it is near enough to matter.

So Storm followed the imbalance to its origin.

Hand over the staff, cat.

No.

Also, I recommend you move three steps to your left.

Or what?

KRAKK

That.

Someone had built a machine to catch the sky.

Storm already hated it.

It was not a shrine.

It was a prison.

You are using living bodies as grounding conductors.

And it works.

No rain.
No floods.
No chaos.

Only power.

You have confused control with stability.

A common mistake among clever people.

Storm did not panic when surrounded.

He organized.

ZZRAK

A tiger-like character with orange and black fur, wearing a tan jacket and dark pants, is shown in a dynamic pose. He is firing a bright blue lightning bolt from his right hand towards a large, ornate mechanical structure on the right. The structure is emitting sparks and is surrounded by other similar structures in the background. The scene is set in a dark, industrial environment with blue lighting.

He did not fight like fire.

He fought like mathematics.

The tiger-like character is crouching on a metal walkway, aiming a long, thin staff or weapon towards the right. He is surrounded by blue lightning bolts that are striking the mechanical structures in the background. The lighting is dramatic, with strong highlights and deep shadows.

Three anchor points.

Break those, and the system collapses.

A close-up profile of the tiger-like character's face, showing his green eyes and detailed fur texture. He has a serious expression. In the background, three glowing yellow circular markers are visible, each containing a blue anchor-like symbol. The background is filled with blue lightning and mechanical structures.

TSSSH

The tiger-like character is shown from the waist up, firing a green energy bolt from his right hand. The bolt is striking a large, circular mechanical structure, causing a massive explosion of blue lightning and sparks. The sound effect 'TSSSH' is written in a stylized font to the right of the explosion.

Stop!
You'll unleash it!

The tiger-like character is crouching on a metal walkway, aiming his staff towards a large, glowing blue mechanical structure. A dog-like character with brown fur and goggles is shown in a dynamic pose, shouting and gesturing with his hands. The background is filled with blue lightning and mechanical structures.

Yes.
That is the point.

The tiger-like character is standing on a metal walkway, looking back over his shoulder towards the dog-like character. He is holding his staff. The background is filled with blue lightning and mechanical structures. The dog-like character is not visible in this panel.

KRAAAA-BOOM

The sky remembered itself.

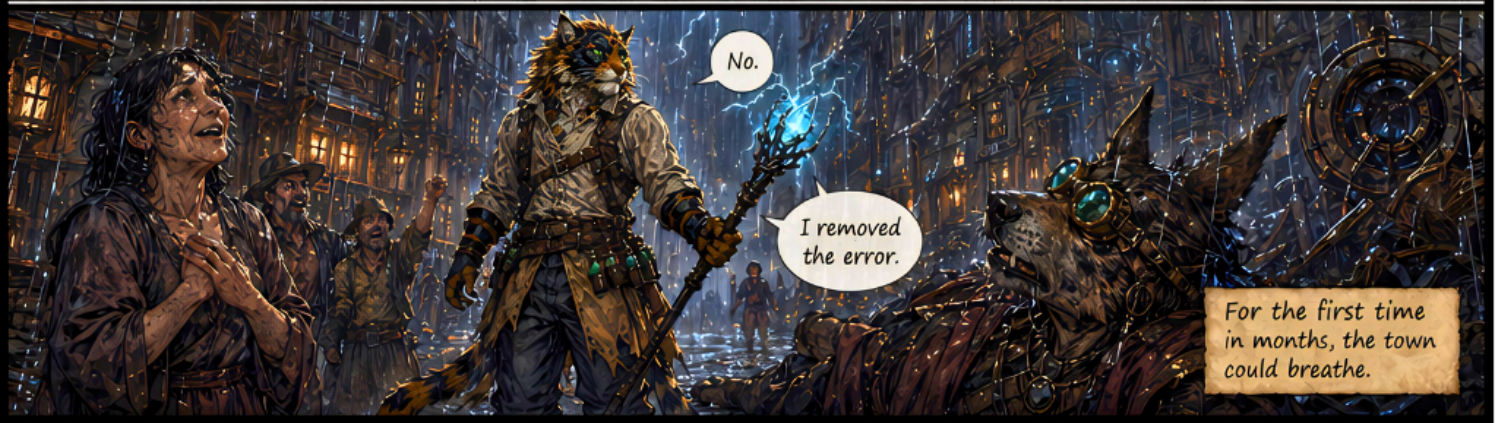

You destroyed everything.

No.

I removed the error.

For the first time in months, the town could breathe.

Storm IronPaw was never chaos.

He was correction.

